

SHOOTMYART™ COMMUNITY GUIDELINES

We desire to promote a friendly, informative, and relevant online experience for the members of our learning community. Therefore, we encourage everyone to:

- Stay on topic, use common courtesy, and be respectful of others
- Remember that members have differing levels of knowledge or skills
- Do not post someone else's copyrighted work unless you have permission
- Never post personal, identifying or confidential information

We moderate lesson discussions and our Facebook and other social media pages, and we make every effort to respond to questions and comments in a timely manner; however, we can't guarantee that we'll reply to everyone. Because the discussions and pages are public and anyone can participate, we cannot be responsible for views expressed other than our own.

All comments and posts are reviewed to ensure they comply with the community guidelines. Although we want to foster healthy discussions, we reserve the right to remove comments and other content determined by us to be inappropriate, in poor taste, or otherwise contrary to the purposes of the Academy and/or containing any of the following:

- “Trolling” or posting deliberately disruptive statements meant to hijack comment threads or throw discussions off-track
- Attacks on specific groups or any comments meant to harass, threaten or abuse an individual
- Profane, defamatory, offensive or violent language or content
- Hateful or discriminatory comments regarding race, ethnicity, religion, gender, disability, sexual orientation or political beliefs
- Links or comments containing sexually explicit content
- Conduct or encouragement of illegal, harmful, or offensive activity
- Spam, “link baiting” or files containing viruses that could damage the operation of other people’s computers or mobile devices
- Commercial solicitations or promotion of competing products, services, or brands
- Violations of copyright or intellectual property rights
- Content that contains confidential or proprietary business information

We also reserve the right to ban any user from our lesson discussions and social media pages without prior notice or consent for repeated violations of the community guidelines.

If you have any questions about this policy or to report any abuses, please send us an email at Academy@ShootMyArt.com and we will follow up with you.
